Thanks Rob,

Appreciate the update - sounds promising for the inside.

I think we're about there on Puget Sound. I'm not sure if Makah and QIN can close the distance between their two positions, but I remain cautiously optimistic.

Good morning Rob,

Wondering how the discussions went yesterday? Appreciate any info available.

Thanks,

James,

There has been significant progress on Skagit just now. We will know more as today plays out. There's still a lot of work to do on the ocean.

Hi Rob,

I just wanted to touch base and let you know that I am available at any point the next two days, should there be any questions that come up or if you have any updates on particular issues being worked on. I understand that your time is very much spoken for so I do appreciate any updates you can provide.

Thanks,
